

January 4, 2017

We opened the year with a Ring-a-Ding-Ding as Prez Linda called the meeting to order with her Bell. The KofC has painted our meeting room and it looked great. Norm Record sang GBA and it was a WAY better version than Al's version at the last meeting of 2016. Richard Nettlow gave the blessing.

For the first time in this reporter's memory, there was No one @ table #1. Brittany was the evening's Sheriff, and of course "Caper Al" Holmes tried to fine her, not remembering that you "can't fine the Sheriff", so Al ended up paying his proposed fine himself. Larry Jackson threw in $5.00 Happy Dollars, saying "Where would the club be, without our women members". (Probably the Elk's club & singing "Men of Kiwanis".)

Jerry Assenmacher threw some shade on Ray Scoboria's alma mater, Penn State, for getting chewed up in the Rose Bowl. Ray calmly asked Jerry how his Wolverines did against Florida State.

Anyways, it was a good night to start the year, and the rest of the night was filled with Committee Meetings & a Board Meeting.

Sorry about the lateness of this week's edition, but I've been working the Detroit Auto show the last few weeks, but I will be attending next week's meeting (01/18) to share in the steak dinner that the WINNING Peanut team (Led by Capt. Skip Armstrong) gets for collecting the most money. The other teams will be munching on Red Hots.
